WHO WANTS TO BE A PILOT (AVIATOR)?

The Aerospace flight visited the National Guard Aviation Battalion at the Raleigh Durham International Airport to learn more about Army Aviation. While there, they met Maj. Hill

ARNG and Chief Warrant officer McAughliffe, ARNG. After the lecture, the flight moved out to the flight line for a tour of a real AH-64 Apache attack helicopter! The cadets were able to see inside this legendary aircraft and observe all the awesome instruments on board. The cadets not only saw the Apache but they also learned about military pilot training and aircraft facts. This was cool, fun, and informative for future pilots and anyone interested in joining the armed forces and specifically Army Aviation. Once again we thank the NC National Guard for their help.

5...4...3...2...1 LIFTOFF!

The Aerospace flight got to launch their Titan model rockets on Range 3 and what a launch it was!

The rockets went high, fast and did their stuff. All the cadets and seniors loved launching the rockets and making up challenges for prizes. Cadet Hobbs with the Public Affairs team launched a rocket (named the PAO), and won first prize in the highly envied closest to the launch pad on landing contest. The PAO is on display at the command post for scheduled viewing. NOTE: Please make an appointment first before barging in.

SEMPER VIGILANS

ALWAYS VIGILANT

AIM, FIRE!

The ALE (Alcohol Law Enforcement) has introduced to our encampment the class EBR (Evil Black Rifle): THE AR-15!

Cadets and Seniors both got a chance at shooting this awesome weapon with a high-tech holographic sighting system.

Hey ladies! Check this baby out! The AR-15 platform has been in service since the 1960's.

SAFETY—

Now it is supposed to be 97 degrees Fahrenheit on Wednesday so put on some sun block and stay cool.

Also on the Range please follow instructions before shooting. We do not want to clean up the mess which once was a person.

Please step away from the target Sir!

Also no hazing, whether you are staff, a cadet, or even a Senior hazing will not be tolerated. An individual caught hazing will be sent home from encampment. Remember, Semper Hydrate!

Semper Hy! Do it or die!

POD CLASS

"Next car come in please." Lt Col Beckett's POD class (points of distribution) was a learning experience in disaster relief.

The cadets donned hard hats and reflective vests and had the vehicles move in an orderly line as load them with MREs and water.

First a vehicle gets directed in by the traffic group, second the vehicle stops and is loaded with MREs and water; finally the vehicle is led out and another group takes it's place.

Looks as if Capt. Huneycutt has found quite a knack in this kind of business.

No matter how hot it was the cadets still moved pallets of supplies with the pallet jack and also carry over 20 boxes a minute! Good job cadets! Now let's keep it up!

STAFF WELCOME

Major Fitchitt

Major Fitchitt is the TAC officer for the advanced ground team flight as well as a van driver. He is from group 5 and is also an ES officer. He is also an active Colonel in the US ARMY. He has been in CAP since 2003 and says that this year's encampment is running extremely well.
